Posteitaliane

What Shoppers think...

- Oh, I knew I wouldn't be here, this morning!
- If they just asked me... if they just told me...!
- And now?
- Ehy, I was actually home!!
- Why using paper if I have a smartphone?

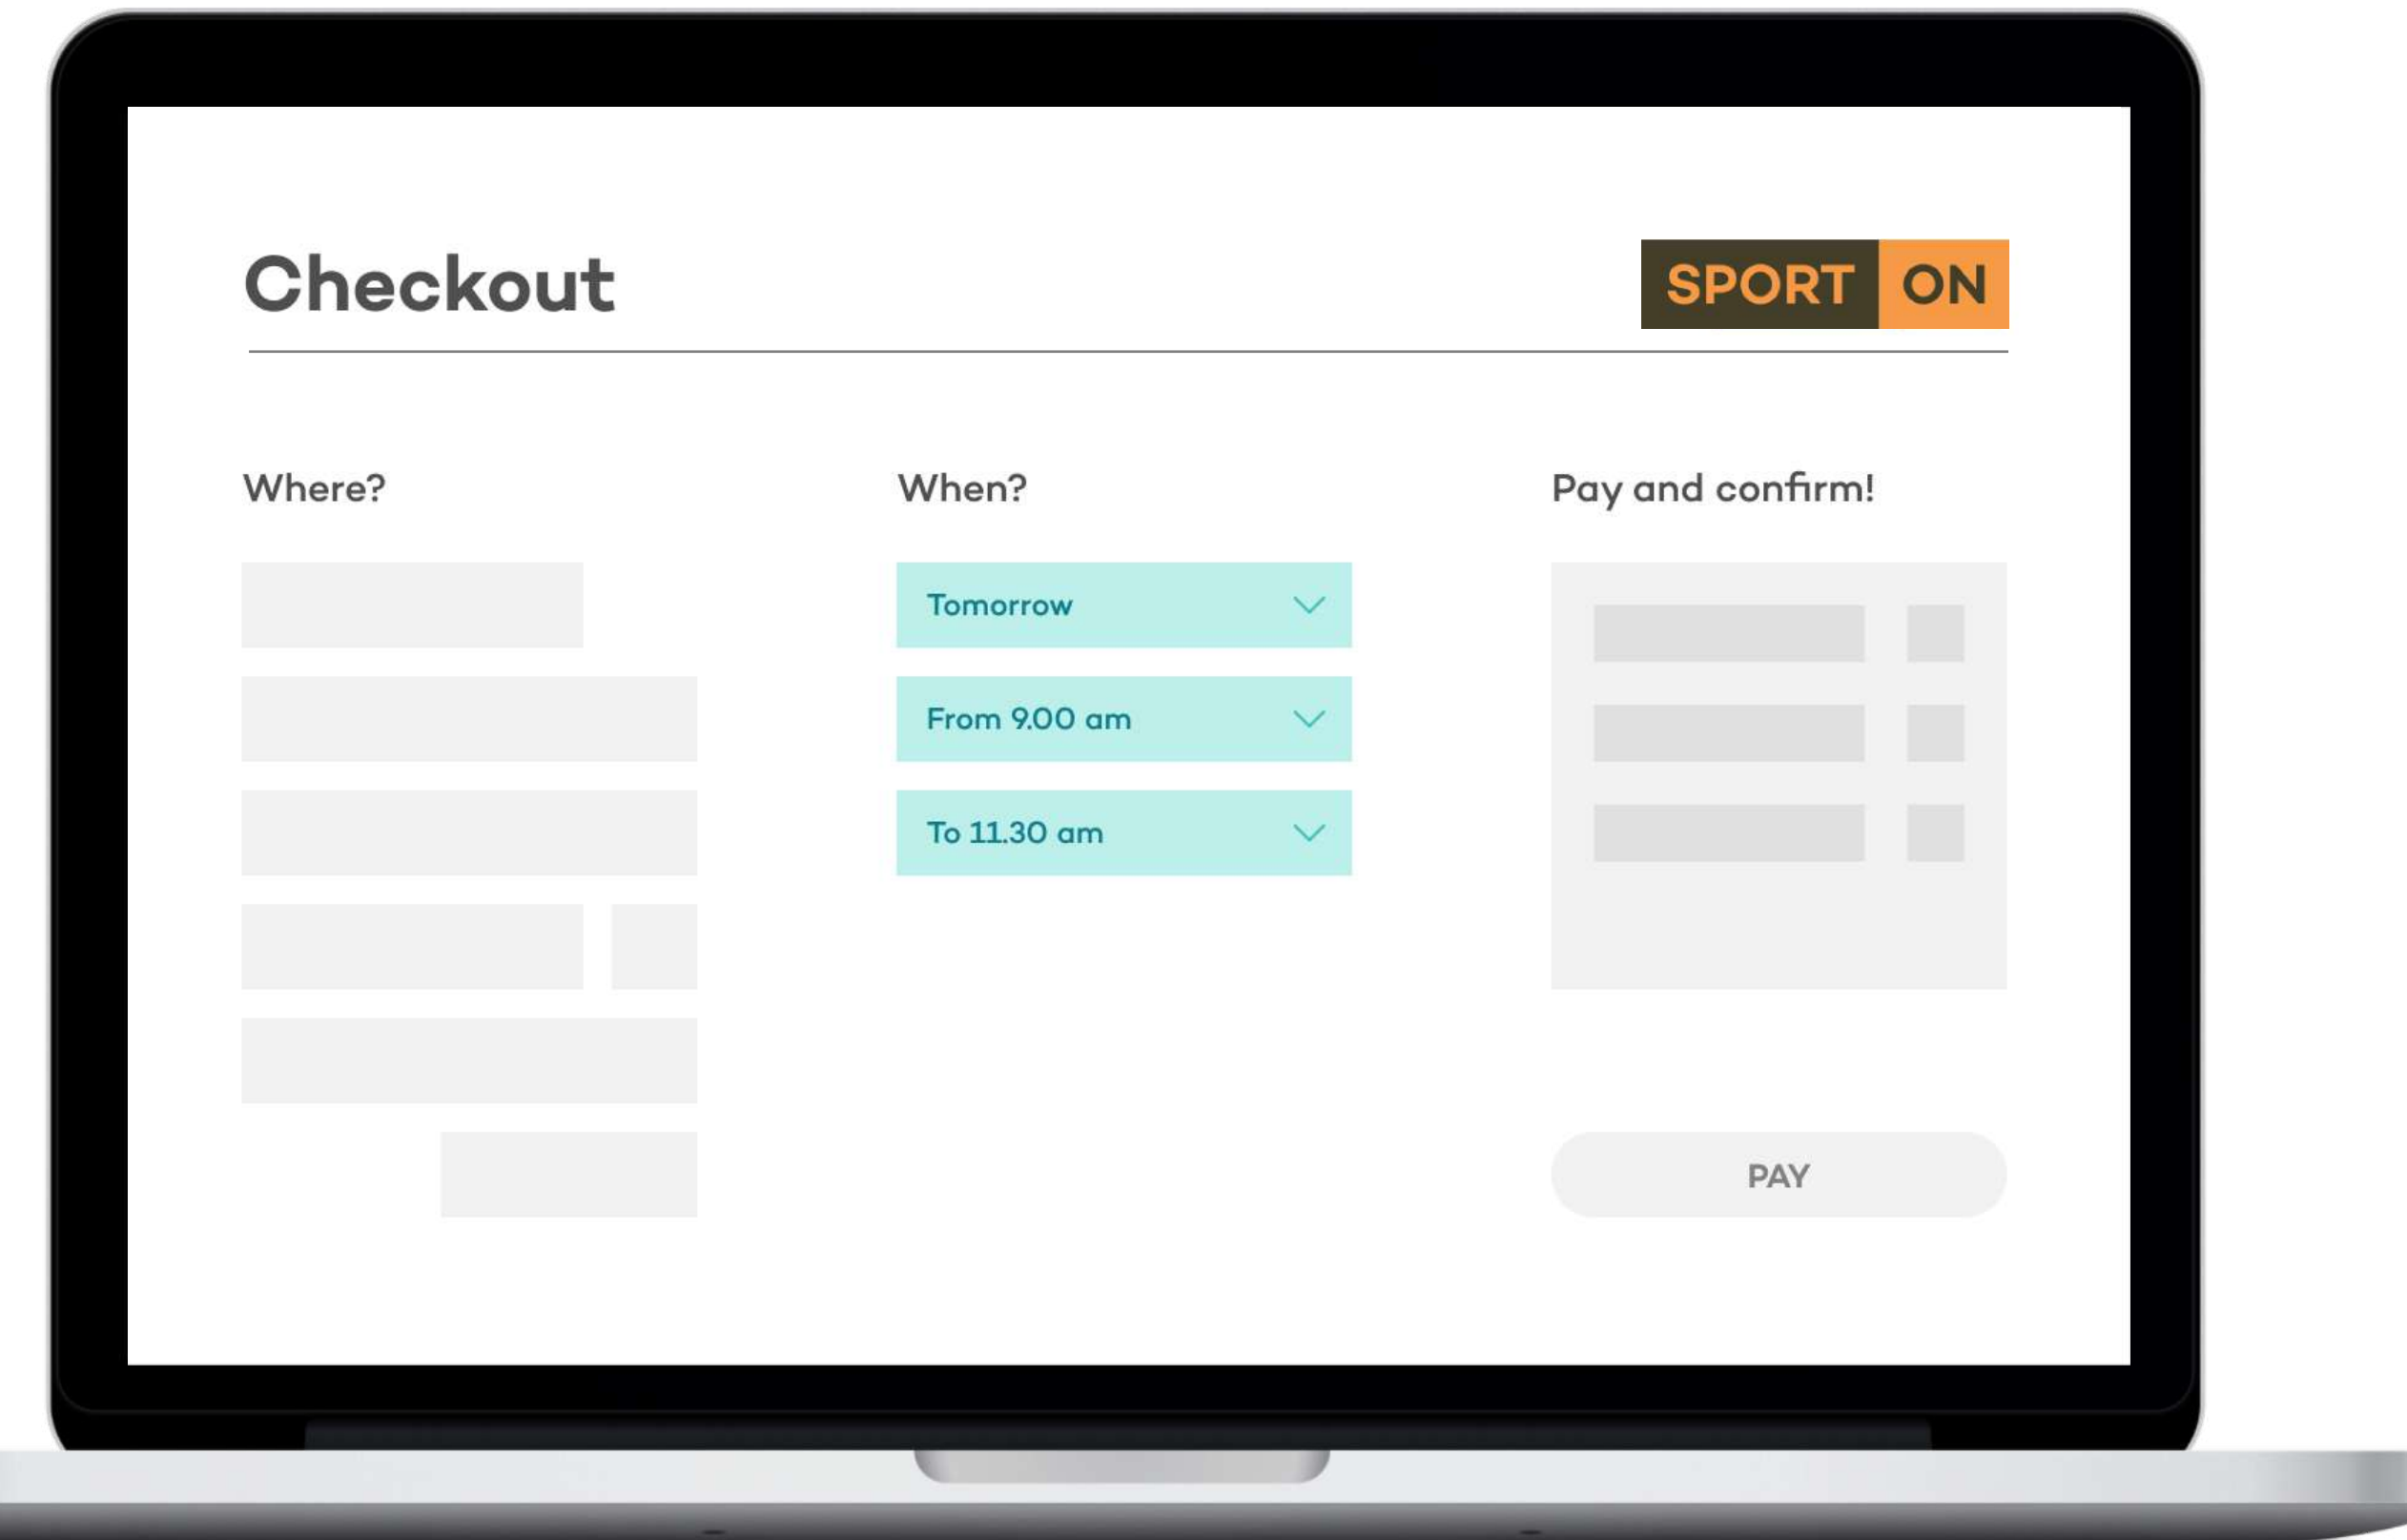

Protect you from this to happen!

Milkman developed an innovative and scalable Technology Platform while Poste Italiane owns market, density, capillarity and a large logistics infrastructure.

So when we were contacted by the Open Innovation team, we immediately saw the synergy and scale. We went live in no time and already fulfilled more than 40 thousands scheduled deliveries for Amazon, one of most important customers of Poste Italiane, and in particular:

Milano 18,500 orders
Roma 15,500 orders
Torino 5,800 orders

The plan is to roll out all the most important cities in Italy.

Introduction

New technology is driving a financial revolution...

Banks have monopolised consumer financial data and infrastructure

Banking market has been static with limited innovation

Technology unlocks infrastructure monopoly

New regulation provide framework and direction

Completely new infrastructure in the financial industry

The open banking infrastructure has democratised financial services

On-going financial revolution where any business can create great financial products

Posteitaliane

Innovation Workshop

London, January 24th 2020

Introduction

...empowering consumers and creating new opportunities

Consumers will have the power – creating significant opportunities for both fast-moving incumbents and new entrants

Incumbent Large Banks

- Improve usage of customer data.
- Aggregation crucial to stay relevant.
- Primary objective to defend market shares.

Niche FIs

- Significant potential upside through aggregating data.
- Primary objective to become more relevant and increase share-of-wallet.

Fintechs / Developers

- Development of legacy-free and data-driven products.
- Leverage international presence.

The future of banking: digital, data-driven, transparent and bank-agnostic
